This week’s issue

Looking for evidence of Schmallenberg virus, p 435
Atypical presentations of feline cowpox, p 442
Marek’s disease in crested partridges, p 443

420 Comment
420 Motoring towards Brexit

421 News and Reports
421 UN endorses recommendations on sustainable agriculture
422 BVA welcomes regional approach to bovine TB in Wales
422 BVA seeks nominations for junior vice-president and members of its new Electoral College
423 Pet sales: charity calls for a change in the law
423 RCVS welcomes its new fellows
424 Dentistry guidelines aim to bridge a ‘significant gap’ in veterinary education
424 Mobile clinic receives Queen’s innovation award
425 RVC celebrates 225 years
426 Responsible use of medicines: creating a common understanding 426 Vet reprimanded for communication failures and making disparaging remarks
427 Addressing the challenges of disease elimination

425 News in Brief
428 Surveillance
428 Equine disease surveillance: quarterly summary
432 Research
432 Schmallenberg virus: on its way out or due for a comeback? (N. De Regge)

435 A freedom from disease study: Schmallenberg virus in the south of England in 2015 (J. E. Stokes and others)
436 Dogs attending primary care practice in England with clinical signs suggestive of Chiari-like malformation/syringomyelia (S. Sanchis-Mora and others)
437 Ethical challenges facing veterinary professionals in Ireland: results from Policy Delphi with vignette methodology (M. Magalhães-Sant’Ana and others)

438 Research Digest
439 British Veterinary Association
439 British Veterinary Association annual general meeting 2016

441 Gazette
442 Letters
442 Unusual presentations of feline cowpox (C. O’Halloran and others)
443 Severe outbreak of Marek’s disease in crested partridges (Rollulus rouloul) (A. Schock and others)
444 Zoonoses as occupational risks (E. Brownlee)
444 Expert witnesses and the Dangerous Dogs Act (K. Shepherd, S. Newbery)

 Vet Record Careers
i New perspectives on research
ii My working week